

FAMILY PROGRAMS EXPLORE ARCHITECTURE

National Gallery of Art, Washington • Saturday, November 6, 2004

ILLUSTRATOR AUTHOR DAVID MACAULAY

The East Building of the National Gallery of Art is located on Fourth Street and Constitution Avenue NW.

Recommended for ages 7 and up; these programs are free; and no registration is required. Seating is offered on a first-come, first-seated basis. For more information, visit www.nga.gov/kids or call (202) 842-6254.

TALK

David Macaulay
11:00 am
East Building Auditorium

David Macaulay will speak about the making of his most recent book, Mosque. Learn how these monumental structures were designed, constructed, and decorated. This program is presented in honor of the exhibition Palace and Mosque: Islamic Art from the Victoria and Albert Museum, on view through February 6, 2005, in the East Building. Following the lecture, there will be a book signing in the East Building sales shop.

FILMS

Cathedral
12:30 and 2:30 pm
East Building Small Auditorium

Based on the award-winning book by David Macaulay, Cathedral uses live-action film and animation to illustrate the planning, building, and cultural importance of the Gothic cathedral in France. (Unicorn Projects, Inc., 1985, 30 mins.)

Castle
1:30 and 3:30 pm
East Building Small Auditorium

With visions of knights in shining armor and wondrous tales of chivalry, castles have fueled legends for hundreds of years. But what were castles and the people who built them really like? Based on the book by David Macaulay, Castle tells the story of a fictional but historically accurate 13th-century Welsh castle. (Unicorn Projects, Inc., 1983, 30 mins.)